WorldView Institute

The transition to national leadership is going very well. It is very timely because of the increased pressure from the government and rising levels of persecution. We just held our 15th annual conference with a great attendance and the wonderful blessing of the Lord.

We heard several testimonies from men who surrendered to ministry in past conferences and how God is now using them in ministry. One of them has started 8 churches since 2012. Praise the Lord!!!

Liangmai Project

A new and revised goal of printing the New Testament has been set for late summer with a November dedication date. Continued strife has resulted in military rule for their state and the chaos continues. The goal of moving the project to a new location is now within sight.

This printed edition of the NT will include Psalms and Proverbs. We are excited to get this finished and delivered to the Liangmai speaking people.

Pamiri Project

We are excited to report that a new associate will be joining this project. After much prayer, a single young man named Todd who just graduated from Baptist College of Ministry in Wisconsin has decided to join WorldView. We are thrilled to see God add laborers to this team. A survey trip is set for April. Please pray for traveling safety and protection for Todd & T while on this trip. They will venture out into remote areas where things aren't always predictable.

A Special Ministry Prayer Request

I am limiting the project updates in this newsletter so I can share my heart and ask earnestly for your prayers.

We all know the devil hates the Bible. When you consider that some of the language groups we are trying to reach have been in the grip of Satan and his demons for thousands of years, you can imagine how desperately he wants to hold on to them. The threat of the powerful Word of God could be his undoing and has the potential to break the back of spiritual deception and change EVERYTHING for these people groups.

There is a constant spiritual war waged against our teams and I could tell you some hair-raising stories. For the last few years, it seems our ministry has gone through seasons of increased intensity in that warfare. We are in one of those seasons now. Five of our projects are located in areas like I have described above and they have all endured deep oppression. Two of them are dealing with severe warfare right now. Even our staff here in the USA can feel the increased intensity.

Would you please add our ministry to your prayer list? Please ask God to cover our teams with His precious blood, with His glory and to put a wall of fire around them. The devil is powerless against God — but prayer is the key. Please join us in regular earnest prayer.

Family News

Emily is thriving at PCC and we are still adjusting to the empty nest. We really miss her!

Linda made an emergency trip to visit in late February because Emily went to the emergency room with what we thought might be appendicitis. However, the diagnosis was multiple ovarian cysts.

We are thankful no surgery is needed but she has been dealing with a lot of pain. She also had a bout with the flu like many other students did. She is doing better now and is on a plan toward recovery. We are thankful the school is working with her on missed classes for the last couple of weeks. Please pray for her trying to catch up on her classwork and maintain good grades. Please also pray for her spiritual growth in the midst of this health crisis and a very busy schedule.

Thank you deeply for your prayers and your support of our family and WorldView Ministries. The Lord is good — all the time!!
